Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group II in Paper No. 8 is acknowledged.

Applicants arguments are not persuasive because the product can be made by a different process such as etching or sand blasting a substrate and then sequentially depositing a polymer and metal layer, instead of laminating a metal/polymer layer to a polymer substrate.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 27-28, 31-34 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 27, line 2, a "first polyamide film" is cited where it appears that applicant intends to cite "first polyimide film." For the purposes of the rejection, claim 22, line 2 is treated as citing "first polyimide film."

As to claim 44, it is unclear how the method limitations further limit the final product. The viscosity and the composition/concentration of the polyimide are related to the weight average molecular weight in the final product. However, since the composition is unknown, the final average molecular weight of the polyimide in the final product is unknown, and therefore the metes and bounds of the claim are unclear.

Claims 28, 31-34 do not cure the indefiniteness of their base claim, and are therefore also rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 27, 31-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by

Takeuchi et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,252,010 B1).

Takeuchi discloses a composite comprising:

- a polymeric substrate having a first etched surface (col.14, lines 6-15),
- a first polyimide film attached to the first etched surface of the substrate (col.14, lines 16-20; since a polyamideimide comprises polyimide), and
- a layer of a metal foil attached to an opposite side of the first polymeric film (col.14, lines 21-22),
- wherein the peel strength is at least 4 lbs/inch (col.23, lines 46-47)

As to claims 31-32, the metal film comprises copper (col.14, lines 6-22).

As to claims 33-34, the first polymeric film has a thickness of 30 microns or less (col.14, lines 25-26) and the metal foil has a thickness of 18 microns (col.23, lines 5-9).

As to claim 44, process limitations are given little patentable weight in product claims.

The viscosity has no effect that can be determined by the examiner on the final product.

Claims 27-28, 31-34 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Suzuki et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,234,522).

Suzuki discloses a composite comprising:

- a polymeric substrate having a first etched surface (col.3, lines 1-22),
- a first polyimide film attached to the first etched surface of the substrate (col.3, lines 32-33), and
- a layer of a metal foil attached to an opposite side of the first polyimide film (col.7, lines 35-40, the surface bearing a circuit encompasses comprising a metal foil);
- wherein the resulting printed circuit board composite has a peel strength of at least 4 lbs/inch (col.9, lines 53-56).

As to claim 28, Suzuki discloses that the composite may comprise a double-sided copper-clad polyimide film (col.8, lines 1-8).

As to claims 31-32, the metal film comprises copper (col.8, lines 1-8).

As to claims 33-34, the first polymeric film has a thickness of 40 microns (col.9, line 31) and the metal foil has a thickness of 35 microns (col.9, line 38).

As to claim 44, process limitations are given little patentable weight in product claims. The viscosity has no effect that can be determined by the examiner on the final product.

Response to Amendment

The 102 rejection over Viehbeck is withdrawn. Applicant's point is well taken that Viehbeck discloses a lower peel strength than is now cited.

The 102 rejection over Takeuchi stands. Applicant argues that polyamideimide does not encompass polyimide. This is not persuasive as the claims have open "comprising" language, and a polyamideimide comprises polyimide.

Examiner's Remarks

Applicant is requested to clarify that, in claim 44, that the polyimide is in the solvent solution, and not a polyimide precursor (polyamic acid).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. RD 0289057 and Itaya et al (JP 10-095847 A) are cited to show printed circuit boards with etched polyimide which appear to be 102/103 references for the claims.

RD 0339037, JP 63-148658 A, and Jablonski (US 6143356) are cited to show etched polyimide to provide for increased adhesion between polyimide and polyimide, and/or between polyimide and metal. Pommer et al ([0025], [0026] and table on page 3), Satoh (col.3, lines 32-38, col.4, lines 18-20) and Sachdev et al (example 5) are also cited to show etching of polyimide to increase adhesion.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
